Habitat for Humanity

On Saturday, October 11, ten RIC students, alongside advisor Jim Montavon, volunteered their day to help build a house in Providence. The purpose was to build a house for three homeless families to move into. All funds and materials for the house were donated. The day consisted of measuring and sawing planks for the purpose of hammering and nailing to create the framework of three walls. Habitat works on houses weekly with the families that will live there. The families work 500 hours to "pay" for the house. Habitat for Humanity is a non-profit organization that has been working for the homeless since 1987.

Licks, Giggles, & Golf

The many different activities put on by activities, programming and other organizations make life on and off of the campus a little more lively and fun. Licks and Giggles was a night filled with ice cream and laughter. The students helped themselves to ice cream in the coffee ground as a comedian entertained. The comedian was great and all who attended laughed heartily. The Mini Golf night at Fantasy Land Golf was also a hit. The RIC students got to strut their stuff or lack thereof in a fun and relaxed environment. The best part of RIC events is that they are both relatively inexpensive and a great way to have fun.

Student Activities Day

Shortly after the fall semester began, campus groups and organizations opened their doors for new members to join. Student activities day was held on the mall, during a Wednesday free period. Over twenty different organizations were represented. Students had an opportunity to see what the campus has to offer, and join the groups that interested them.

A wide variety of organizations were represented, including: Campus Ministry, The Native American Student Association, Student Community Government, The Anchor, and WXIN. Some groups held raffles, while others gave out free samples to gain the interest of the Rhode Island College community.

Adams Library

The four floors of the James P. Adams library fulfills the many needs of the Rhode Island College student body. The library has recently gotten rid of its archaic card catalog in favor of an on-line HELIN catalogue system. Not only can students use the computers to look up books at RIC and other HELIN libraries, but they also allow students to browse the Web. Some of the other resource in Adam's Library include the Government Publications section on the second floor, Special Collections and the Curriculum Resource Center both located on the fourth floor. Many people meet in one of the library's meeting rooms to work on projects. Adams Library also serves the needs of students who want a quiet place to study.

Midnight Madness

One of the events this Fall was the Midnight Madness at the Recreation Center, which is not to be confused with the sports Midnight Madness held in the New Gym. This night of fun and games was held in the and around the Recreation Center's pool. Some of the in pool events included water obstacle races, innertube racing, water volleyball, and a number of other in pool activities. Some of the out of pool events included a water balloon toss, which is slightly more refreshing and less sticky than an egg toss, and a marksmanship game in which you had to shoot a ball off the top of a milk jug with a water pistol.

Human Regurgitator

If there is one show put on by this campus which will amaze you it is Stevie Star. He combines the utterly disgusting with the utterly amazing. Not only can he swallow objects, but with the help of the soap he can clean them as well. Stevie has the amazing ability to swallow a rubics cube and unsolve it in his stomach. Probably one of the more dangerous feats is the swallowing of butane gas which he then puts into a soap bubble and ignites on a lighter (usually burning the hair off his arm as he does). And yes he does swallow live goldfish as well. Stevie Star has displayed his talents at Rhode Island College on several occasions, and has appeared on Jay Leno, David Letterman, and other television shows.

Happy Halloween

Rhode Island College comes alive at Halloween. Well maybe alive is not the best word for the changes in RIC students during this holiday. One of the events held this year was the Joslin kids Halloween party, which is always a big hit with the kids. Another event was the RIC Activities Haunted House held in the ballroom of the Student Union. As usual, this event was well attended. Weber Hall had its annual Halloween party with a DJ from WXIN. While the lights and music were great the smoke was a little overpowering (as is evident in the pictures). A final event was the Brown Hall Haunted House and a palm reader - a new feature this year. The haunted house was well thought out and manned by the Browne dorm residents. The palm reader was a popular stop throughout the night.

Student Affairs. During the school year, these organizations help students stay busy, active, informed and involved. One day a year each group represents itself to introduce their services to the student body. Without their support, many of us would be lost. They offer the guidance and assistance we need to get through our college careers and we thank them.

S.O.S. stands for Slightly Older Students. This year these folks celebrated their tenth anniversary as a RIC Organization with a wild bash in the Student Union Ballroom. Speakers noted their appreciation for the services S.O.S. provides for the college community including peer counseling, an emergency contact system and their amazing lending library. The bash featured the best of Donovan Dining services, music from DJ Phil Rivers and Salsa dance instruction from Peggy Sandoval. It was a wild party indeed !!

Music on campus is soup to nuts. Variety is the standard as these pictures demonstrate. The acappella group The Main Attraction performed. They are better known as the voices of The California Raisins! (We heard it through the grapevine). On the opposite end of the spectrum, WXIN sponsored a local get-together of bands in the area. Each event drew a different audience, thus no matter what your taste in music, from classical performances to the latest rock or Urban Flava, it could be found on our campus.

R-rated hypnotist Frank Santos visited us in a mesmerizing performance. One lucky girl was brought to the heights of ecstasy and awoke to an astonished crowd. Even more outrageous was the transformation of a "normal" college student into "Dickman", caped defender of pleasure. The folks who volunteered to be on stage with Mr. Santos were lined up and shot to death by a more than willing audience. On the count of three, you will awake and not remember turning to this page. One... Two... Three..... Wha?

Christmas 1997. Every holiday season on campus begins with the lighting of the Christmas tree at the President's house. The tree was beautifully decorated and the mood was merry. After the lighting was Christmas cheer, festive and bright. The night passed with food, wine, songs and a reading to the children. We all feel the goodwill of our neighbors and remember the passing of old friends. At times, Christmas is as bittersweet as it is joyous. "T" was the night before Christmas, and all through the house..."

The Christmas Ball was held at the Rhodes on the Pawtuxet, and you can tell by the smiling faces that it was a wonderful time. The music was performed by Brass Attack and those who attended can attest to the wonderful mood they generated. It was a classy as well as a memorable evening.

Donovan Dining Center puts on a great holiday feast every year. The food was abundant, the children had arts and crafts and we all enjoyed each others company in what can be considered the biggest get-together on campus next to commencement. There were four, fifty foot tables covered with food, each with roast beef, ham or pork roast cooked to perfection and carved to your liking! No wonder Mr. & Mrs. Claus arrived even though there was not a spot on campus to park the reindeer.

Spring Events

The Olympics & The Leadership Weekend

The Olymp-RICs is an athletic competition between the members of the Willard, Thorpe, Browne, Sweet and Weber Dorms. A variety of events took place which featured the skills, agility and teamwork of the competitors. There were many participants in the Olymprics, far too many to be covered in this spread. However, it was great fun for all involved.

The Leadership weekend is a nurturing event which features teamwork and leadership growth. It is a time to learn about yourself, to value the cooperation of others and to understand what it takes to be a leader. It is both a valuable experience and a very pleasurable time.

Combative Arts

The Combative Arts Club began this Spring and was successful in drawing members who were enthusiastic and dedicated to the discipline. The organization won two major awards at the Storgies (page 43), Best New Club and Club of the Year! President and Founder Brian Robinson states that the Combative Arts Club is dedicated to the memory of Bruce Lee.

This Club is not found in the Student Organization section but is featured here because of its great success. The members shown below include:

President and Founder Robinson (lower right with instructor Keith Allan), Sharlem Mercado, Tracy Ryan, Tania Andrade, Keith Lazarski, Bethany Hogan, Robert Crane, Wendy Rodrigues, Kerri-Lynn Constancia, Trevor C. Price, Jack Laiho, Todd Scungio and Leah Manchester. Best wishes for continued success to all!

Diversity Celebrated

The next four pages is a celebration of the diversity found on the RI College Campus. There are many ethnicities which make up the faculty and student bodies and special guest Christopher Edley visited us with a Dialogue on Diversity. At right he is shown with Dr. Bigler, below with Joseph Costa and Amritjit Singh, center and below left speaking in Gaige Auditorium and below right with Dr. Costa, President John Nazarian, Carol Shelton and Dr. Singh.

The Multi-Cultural Food Fest spotlighted the cuisine of different cultures at Browne Hall. What resulted was an appreciation of a mix of differing cultures and peoples. It was truly representative of our divergent backgrounds not only on campus, but throughout the American landscape.

ASA & Harambee

Diversity is further celebrated by the Asian Student Association and Harambee. The A.S.A. celebrated the Richness of Asia with a Culture Show, Fashion Show, Banquet and dance party. All Asian cultures were represented, the costumes were beautiful, the dances were poetic and the food was delicious!

Harambee's Fashion Show was more contemporary than traditional. Shown at right are the beautiful models who are sporting the fashions of T.J. Maxx, JC Penny, J. Silver, Bob's Stores and Marshalls.

Both The Richness of Asia and A Night of Fashion were highly successful events, both entertaining and culturally relevant. Unfortunately, not every culture is represented here, however all have the respect of the college community. L.A.S.O. (Latin American Student Organization) can be found on page 97 !!

Spring Break Mixer & The Storgies

The Spring Break Mixer was a collaborative effort sponsored by S.O.S. It occurred on St. Patrick's Day at the Roughstone Tavern. With faculty and staff attending, and entertainment provided by local singer Geri Verdi, it was a great mixer.

The Storgies is an award ceremony honoring all student organizations. Pictured on page 43 are clockwise from top: Kevin DeJesus accepting a Scholarship Award from SCG President Chris Williamson; Michael Grilli, Best President (Exodus Yearbook); Brian Robinson, Most Active Member in an Organization (Combative Arts); Dave Gagnon, Best On-Campus Activity (RIC-END), & RIC Film Society Most Original Program. There were many other Awards given throughout the evening.

Spring Cotillion & Canoe Trip at Wood River

The Spring Cotillion was a formal event sponsored by the Resident Student Association. It took place at the Providence Biltmore and it was a gala event. It was both romantic and fun. RSA won the Storgy Award for Best Social Event for the Spring Cotillion, an award which no one could contest.

The Canoe Trip to Wood River was not as formal as the Cotillion but is still worthy of merit. The day began with heavy rain, but those courageous enough to board the bus were rewarded with a gorgeous day. The serenity of the river was most welcome at the end of the hectic school year! This event was sponsored by Student Activities.

End of Year Dinner

Donovan Dining Center put on the End of Year Dinner on May 7, 1998. It had a New Orleans Mardi Gras theme and it was extremely well received by hundreds of hungry patrons. The band played some hot New Orleans Jazz most capably while we loaded up plates with some hot and spicy chow. Shrimp, crawfish, prime-rib, roast pork were just some of the many Louisiana-style dishes that were served. The desserts were extraordinary! The company was great and the music entirely appropriate!

RIC-END

Competition !

At the end of the semester every one needed to release thier aggressions. The Obstacle Course (upper right) was mild compared to the violent Samurai Wrestling (below) and the blood soaked Inflatable Boxing (lower right). The felled Samurai later recompensed her shameful defeat by committing Hari-Kari. It was the honorable thing to do. Meanwhile, the vanquished fighter of the Inflatable boxing went on to denounce the sport, calling it a "viscious spectacle meant only as a vehicle of our aggressive impulses". It should be noted that Psychology Majors usually have this reaction after an impressive knock-out!

The Psychic & The Sculptor

Jim Karol, The Psychic Madman thrilled the student body in the Student Union Ballroom with his wild antics, his slight of hand and his amazing psychic abilities. He escaped from handcuffs in less than a second. He placed his fingers in a fox-trap which had snapped a pencil in two, and remained unscathed. He had an audience member join him on stage, had him pick a card, any card, then stapled it to the poor soul's forehead!

The totem pole in front of Gaige Hall was lowered to its final resting place at the same time that the Chain-saw Sculptor created a wooden dragon from a tree stump. This impressive work can be found next to the totem in front of Gaige Hall. Check it out sometime. It is indeed unique!

RIC END

The Rock Hunt

The Rock Hunt began in early March with a number of local bands participating for a big cash prize. The music crunched and roared in The CoffeeGround and the Student Union Ballroom well into April. Throughout the competition many bands were eliminated until the Final Four remained. The Comic Book Super-Heroes, Entropy, Gruvis Malt and State of Corruption battled it out at the legendary Lupo's Heartbreak Hotel on Tuesday, April 21. Organizer and Hostess Daria D'Amore (shown right) introduces the bands and the electric roar rocked Lupo's foundation. At the end of the evening, in the wee hours of Wednesday, Daria announced the winner of the 1998 Rock Hunt. The honor (and the cash) went to Gruvis Malt (bottom right).

The Radiogram

King B, Phil Rivers and Steve Bannon were The Radiogram, a weekly morning show produced by this wild and wacky team, and aired Friday mornings at 8:00AM on WXIN. They were part of the great programming under the leadership of General Manager Todd Mesiti. In the words of the immortal Phil Rivers, "Praise the lard and eat the greasy chicken". No one could ever be so specific.

The ZZZZ Club

This club meets at the end of every semester, usually during the last week of classes, as we all work round the clock to finish presentations, papers, projects and study for final exams. The ZZZZ Club boasts the largest membership of any club on campus, with the possible exception of the #*% Club.

Class '98 Gift

Here we are, working hard to install the Gift to the College from the Class of 1998 as mentioned on page 103. It is a granite table with marble seats set in what is now RIC Park. Located in the woods between the Student Union Loop and the large parking lot on the south side of the New Athletic Building, it is a quiet place to relax, read or study. It feels serene and tranquil. The Class of 1998 hopes that it will be used as a haven for future classes to enjoy in solitude or with company. It is also hoped that future classes will expand on the idea of RIC Park.

Canadian Cruise

This beautiful two-day excursion was a real treat after the final Finals. It was an exciting, partying, and for many, romantic time. The breakfast buffet and the full dinner buffet were delicious. The casino blessed some handsomely, and others cursed, but the late-night bars were open to satisfy the blues and the late-night disco with these fine ladies could make one forget those "one-armed bandits".

Canadian Cruise

The Nova Scotia Cruise was a more politically correct name for the traditional "Booze Cruise". Aboard the Scotia Prince, there was an abundance of drinking, carousing, and fun. Almost everyone from our party participated in Karaoke on the way home. The more serious of us enjoyed the beautiful view of the North Atlantic, some of us even spotted whales! This ocean voyage was just the beginning of a great Senior Week Celebration!

Senior Formal

The Senior Formal was held at the Westin Hotel in Downtown Providence. The guys were handsomely dressed and all the girls were stunning! The music raged for hours after a wonderful banquet and the dance floor was full all night. As you can tell from the smiles in these photos, it was a memorable evening.

Senior Formal

Romance and fun prevailed throughout the evening.

Senior Formal

The smiles tell it all. Relief from years at College melt away. Commencement is right around the corner as is evident by the lack of stress on our faces. Other events during Senior Week included the Boston Shopping Trip, Movie Day at the Avon Cinema on Thayer Street in Providence and the Senior Brunch which is included in the Commencement Section on page 126.

Commencement

Cap and Gown

This is the official opening of our RI College Commencement.

We are vested in our caps and gowns at this ceremony which honors those who have been outstanding in their fields of study.

It is a time when that extra mile of study is appreciated by the College.

It is also the moment when we realize that our College days are all over but the shouting.

The ending is just beginning.

Senior Brunch

The Senior Brunch was more than an excuse to eat at Donovan. (What excuse was ever needed)? We came together to spend one last time together before commencement. We raised our glasses of champagne and toasted our Class of 1998, our friendships, our accomplishments and our future. Here is to the memories of the best of all Classes:

The Rhode Island College
Class of 1998!!!

Salute.

1998

Commencement

Pomp and Circumstance plays softly and elegantly through the campus. We are lined up, waiting and waiting and waiting. Time seems to have stopped.

From the edge of the horizon, the line begins to move. The excitement begins its hold on each of us and builds quickly when we see 10,000 spectators who are present to witness our victorious celebration. Our heads are all held up to the highest heavens with the pride that is known only to us.

It is our day.

Commencement

The ceremony took but three hours. We thought it would seem like five. We were wrong. Reflecting back on May 23, 1998, it seemed to have taken a few short moments. The sky shown down upon us in a brilliant sun; it was a harbinger of our success. The gods are smiling on us. We have no reason to fear the future. We now have passes which will allow us into the futures we have planned. We have received Tickets to Our Future. Rhode Island College President, Dr. John Nazarian reminds us of our obligation. In the words of Horace Mann: "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity".

Before you know it, these kids will be doctors, nurses and medical technicians, possibly yours.

They'll need an excellent grasp of laser technology, advanced computing and molecular genetics. Unfortunately, very few American children are being prepared to master such sophisticated subjects.

If we want children who can handle tomorrow's good jobs, more kids need to take more challenging academic courses.
